

New York City coronavirus testing sites by appointment

NEW YORK - New York City is setting up COVID-19 assessment and testing centers at 10 city hospitals, seven community-based health centers, and four drive-thru sites. You must have an appointment before showing up at one of these sites and you won't get an appointment unless your symptoms are moderate to severe, officials stressed.

New Yorkers who have high priority because of age, pre-existing conditions, and symptoms, can call 844-NYC-4NYC for more information and appointments.

People who need more information about the coronavirus or would like to set up an appointment to get tested in New York call 888-364-3065
